

TVA Unveils The Valley TaP Program

The first participants were recently selected for The Valley Targeted and prepared Community Program (The Valley TaP Program), where the Tennessee Valley Authority assists communities in enhancing their economic development efforts. TVA is the nation's largest public power provider, providing services to 158 distributors that serve nearly 8.6 million consumers in seven Southeastern states.

Communities selected to participate are: Clarksville-Montgomery County Economic Development Council and Weakley County Economic Development Board in Tennessee; Cullman Economic Development Agency in Alabama; and the Greater Starkville Development Partnership in Mississippi. Each has demonstrated a strong level of community leadership and a commitment to success in strategic planning. The program will be administered by Boyette Levy of Atlanta, which provides strategic advice to communities. For complete details about this program, visit www.tvaed.com.
